The Governor and the Boys

Members of the postwar planning and construction committee gathered around one of our J-School presses Wednesday afternoon to have a Kaimin photographer takes the above spot. The commission is touring the state institutions in an effort to decide who gets the $4,500,000 set aside by the last legislature. Members of the commission who visited MSU were Governor Ford, Senators W. E. Keeley, Deer Lodge; E. F. McQuitty, Harlowtown, and Henry J. Sawtell of Miles City; Representatives E. A. Blenkner, Columbus, and Ory J. Armstrong, Kalispell; and Public Members L. H. Richardson, Great Falls; Fred E. Rathert, Wolf Point, and John Sterham, Glendive. Pictured here are commission members, President McCain (third from left) and Governor Ford (fourth from left).

Post-War Planning Commission Visits

BY AGNES REGAN

Touring the university campus Wednesday, the State Post War Planning and Construction Commission considered needs for repair and new building as part of its statewide study to plan for appropriation of a four and a half million dollar fund available for construction in Montana institutions.

Gov. Sam C. Ford, as head of the commission, said that it had found much repair work necessary on the university campus.

"Practically all buildings on the campus, except the most recently built modern buildings, need considerable repair and improvement," he said. "After this has been studied carefully, the commission will discuss the new building situation."

Ford explained that repair work would be given priority over new building as a more pressing need in most instances.

"Present equipment will be put into condition first," he said, "not only here but in all state institutions. When that has been done, new construction will be considered if there is enough money left."

Although the fund has been set aside for the purpose of construction, its spending will be deferred until the legislature makes specific appropriations for each institution. The commission will submit its findings, recommending certain repairs and additions, to the legislature for action.

Unless a special session of the legislature is called by the governor, such action cannot come until early in 1947, and repair and remodeling work will be delayed until after that time.

The university, in an estimated budget asked an appropriation of $239,860. Five units, omitting

Eastern Montana Normal school at Billings which did not request repairs, submitted requests totaling $697,952 for repairs and remodeling.

Governor Ford said that estimates of construction needs as submitted by the heads of the institutions, are far greater than the money now available. Requests for repair work total $1,300,000 and for new construction $12,000,000.

"This does not represent actual needs," he explained, "but needs for the present and the future. Some of the new construction requested may not be necessary for perhaps 10 or 12 years, but the commission asked for estimates which will consider a long-range construction policy."

The money available for construction will be used for all state institutions—custodial institutions, training schools, vocational school and state industrial school, the prison, orphan home, tuberculosis sanitarium, school for feeble minded, school for deaf and dumb—as well as for the six units of the Greater University.

The state institution for the insane at Warm Springs may not come under the appropriation, Ford said. A fund of $400,000, appropriated by legislative action, is available for building now at (please see page two)

Jeffers Names Walter King Chairman of Convo Committee; Reinertson Heads Traditions

Numerous Committees Appointed at First Meeting of ASMSU Governing Body

Walter King, Missoula, has been appointed chairman of Convocations Committee to succeed Jimmy Lucas, ex-'48, who entered the army during the summer. King's appointment was confirmed at the Tuesday meeting of Central Board. Janet Reinertson, Hot Springs, last year's runner-up in the ASMSU presidential race, was named chairman of Traditions Committee.

President Jeffers appointed Pat Murphy, Missoula, Mary Brome, Missoula, and Margie Floyd, Butte, to a committee which will confer with President McCain in regard to tennis court repair. A motion to appropriate $500 from ASMSU funds, to improve the courts, was tabled pending the committee's report to the board.

Dorothy Davis, Dillon, senior delegate to the Board was named interim chairman of the newly formed Publications Committee. The names of other members of this committee will be announced in the near future.

A committee composed of Don Kern, Livingston, chairman; Barbara Scherrer, Helena; Florence Adams, Billings; Joan Blair, Missoula, and "Speed" Grater, Pittsburgh, Pa., was created to investigate the proposed ice skating rink. Some work on the rink behind the Student Union was done last year.

Tourjours Gai

In looking through a batch of pictures the other day we came across the above shot of a certain MSU coed who seems to be having one swell time. We fondly hope that it will sort of set the theme for your days at MSU.

ATTENTION

Jane Jeffers, ASMSU president, asks that the ranking officer of each of the four classes, in which there is an office to be filled, petition her to call an election for the purpose of filling that vacancy. It is important that these petitions be presented immediately. For information concerning the filing of these petitions call the ASMSU president's office in the Student Union.

AWS Enacts Additional Restrictions

Elimination of all but two activities from the extracurricular program of freshman women for the first six weeks of Fall Quarter was made into a motion, and passed at an AWS meeting yesterday at 5 p.m. Also included in the motion was the provision that freshmen women with grade averages of "C" or better at mid-quarter would be permitted to participate in more than two activities.

AWS President Dorothy Martin Mather, Two Dot, secured support of AWS in helping ASMSU Traditions Chairman Janet Reinertson, Hot Springs, revive many MSU traditions which were inactive during the war.

Washington State College's AWS president at Pullman has invited MSU's AWS president and one other representative to attend a representative AWS meeting of various colleges and universities at Pullman the week end of Nov. 17. MSU's delegates to the conference will be announced at a later date.

No action was taken to secure later hours for MSU coeds.

McGee Tapped By Spur At Convocation

Anna McGee, Great Falls, was tapped by Tannan of Spur, sophomore honorary, today at the opening convocation of the year which also featured a greeting to the student body by President McCain and introductions of new student committee heads and new faculty members.

Ens. Earl Dahlstrom, former music school student, sang several selections. Dahlstrom, an advanced student when he left for naval service in 1942, plans to finish his training here when he is discharged.

Miss McGee, who has been prominent in Masquers, sports and other activities, was chosen by Spur to complete the quota which was not filled at tapping last spring.

Dr. Kenneth P. Davis, new dean of the School of Forestry, and Major William G. Kelly, professor of military science and tactics, were introduced to the assembly as MSU alumni. Davis is a forestry graduate of 1928 and Major Kelly, who will be in charge of the ROTC unit, is a graduate of 1930.

Walter King, newly appointed student convocation committee head, and Jane Jeffers, ASMSU president, spoke to the group briefly.

Norman R. Gulbrandsen, new instructor in music, led community singing of university and familiar songs.

Ta, Ta

We wish to thank all the girls who came to our press room Tuesday morning and helped us fold the Kaimin. A ten-page paper is something new in our young journalistic experience and we were pressed to get it folded in time to hit the campus at noon. You did a wonderful job girls—thanks again.

Somebody Is Stalling

At the Tuesday meeting of Central Board a matter of primary importance was called to the attention of members, i.e. should ASMSU funds be spent to repair property owned by the university. The question arose while the board was debating the appropriation of money to repair the tennis courts.

We have been attending meetings of Central Board for over half a year. If our memory does not fail, we believe the matter of repairing the courts was one of the topics under discussion at the first meeting we sat in on. At that time, as at present, a committee of C. B. members had just returned from a call on Mr. Swearingen, maintenance engineer, and had returned with the "catchall" excuse of these days: "We can't do anything now because of the manpower shortage." At the Tuesday meeting, another committee, seeking aid from the same source for the same project came back with the same answer, "No one to do the work."

Central Board, no doubt thinking a bit of cash in the hands of the Maintenance Department might bring results, was about to appropriate $500 of your money to pay for improvement and repair of the courts. At this point the question mentioned above was raised and it was decided to table the motion for the appropriation and appoint another committee to call on our new president to see if some aid from the university could not be obtained.

We believe it is the duty of the school to keep these courts in good repair. We do think the students should spend their money to improve tennis courts anymore than they should spend it to fix the bell in Main Hall should it become cracked some cold winter morning.

Between now and our Tuesday issue we intend to make a personal inspection of the courts. Upon completion of this tour we shall print a list of things that need repairing. We shall keep hammering at this thing until the students of the university are provided top-shape courts.

Commission

Warm Springs and the question of further building there with the general construction fund will not be determined until a later date.

The commission visited Northern Montana College at Havre on Monday and the state school for the deaf and dumb at Great Falls Tuesday. Governor Ford joined it Wednesday for its trip to Missoula.

Thursday the commission planned to tour the state prison at Deer Lodge, the tuberculosis sanitarium at Galen and possibly the institution for the insane at Warm Springs. Friday it will visit the school for the feeble minded at Boulder and Saturday, Montana State College at Bozeman. Other institutions will probably be visited by sub committees.

Members of the commission who were on the university campus were Governor Ford, Senators W. E. Keeley of Deer Lodge, E. F. McQuitty of Harlowtown, and Henry J. Sawtell of Miles City; Representatives E. A. Blenkner of Columbus and Ory J. Armstrong of Kalispell and Public Members L. H. Richardson of Great Falls, Fred E. Rathert of Wolf Point and John Sterham of Glendive.

Alex Stepanzoff, member of the local university executive board, and Tom Swearingen, university maintenance engineer, accompanied the tour. Members of the commission who were not present were Representative Tom Stout of Lewistown and Public Member Evan W. Kelley of Missoula.

ATTENTION FOOTBALL FANS

Through an exchange agreement with the Missoula high school, university students who purchase tickets in advance will be admitted to all Spartan football games for 50 cents. Tickets are on sale at the Associated Students office in the Student Union building. University students not purchasing advance tickets will be required to pay the full general admission price.

NOTICE

The Independent Organization will hold its first meeting of the year on Monday, October 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bitterroot room. Plans for the year's program will be discussed.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Editor, The Kaimin:

"Cogitate, then agitate," says Helen Brutsch in her initial column for the quarter. And she proceeds to do about half of that. Because I don't feel that she has cogitated enough—at least not enough to force herself to get all the facts—I've decided on behalf of the fraternities, on whose council I sit at present, to reply.

First of all, let it be widely known that fraternities do not rush on a quota system. Any fraternity on this campus may expand its membership to whatever size it thinks best. In any one of the fraternities on this campus, there is always room for one more, provided he meets whatever standards that particular fraternity sets up as to the caliber of its members.

Miss Brutsch levels other general accusations at the rushing systems of fraternities and sororities, accusations not too easy to dispute, because there is a degree of truth in them. Rushing is insincere, she declares. There is too little time for either the rushee, or the man or woman who is rushing that rushee, to get to know each other. In some cases, this is true. But from a number of years of rushing experience, I feel quite certain that in a great many cases, a high measure of sincerity is attained by both sides—those who are rushing, and those who are being rushed. And from the experience of last rush week, as hectic a rush week as I've ever lived through, I can say with certainty that I got to know rather well in a very short time fellows I might not have come to know nearly so fast under normal conditions. From the quality of our conversations during the week I'm sure that there was a notable degree of sincerity on both sides. This was as true of the discussions I had with fellows who did not in the end pledge my fraternity as with those who did.

I grant that the rushing system in use at present by the fraternities has grave faults. No one who rushed under it this year was satisfied. But I fail to see that deferred rushing is any answer to the problem. Last year, fraternities rushed several weeks after school had already been in progress, a kind of deferred rushing system. I hope never to have to undergo that system again. The problems of rushing and studying at the same time were almost impossible to reconcile. The after-effects both in physical fatigue and in loss of study time were much worse than any after-effects encountered this year. As between rushing during Freshman week and rushing later on in the year, I plump unhesitatingly for the former.

The whole matter will come up before Interfraternity Council this year. At the present moment, the interfraternity system is in process of reorganization at the decision of the council itself. Rushing and all its aspects will be studied in the course of the next few weeks in an effort to bring about a more equitable system to be applied from now on. This news should bring some cheer to Miss Brutsch as well as assist her in further cogitation in regard to a subject she has brought to the attention of the campus.

Sincerely,
WALT KING

Mr. Gerald Castile,
c/o The Kaimin
Dear Mr. Castile:

America's not-so-comic mud-slingers are at it again.

Not able to suggest anything constructive for their country they busy themselves maligning others who can.

In last Tuesday's Kaimin, you, a mere student, stated MacArthur's suggested 200,000 troops to occupy Japan was ridiculous. If your judgment in the Japanese occupation problems is as thorough and final as you intimated, Montana State University is indeed honored to have such an authority on its campus. But I'm afraid that is not quite the case.

Furthermore you seem determined to draw a comparison line between Franklin Roosevelt and Douglas MacArthur as war leaders. Their separate jobs in winning out victory cannot be compared. Each was a different part of a great organization interdependent on each other.

You say you echo the voices of America's thinking millions; I would rather say that you echo the forces of disunion and of a loss of faith in what America has just fought for.

As for American withdrawal in one year, you must have forgotten that MacArthur stated that major American forces would be withdrawn. This would still leave Americans in Japan and in control of everyone from the Emperor on down, the schools, army, navy, information and propaganda services, scientific research, and economy.

You also seem to overlook that Chinese, Russian, Dutch, British, and British Commonwealth forces will augment American troops in the Nipponese home islands.

Your ability in simple arithmetic seems to go no further than just that "simple arithmetic;" you apparently don't know how to figure in the little, but mighty, atom.

Before making all your "ludicrous" statements about the "200,000 troops," you should take into consideration that we hold over Japan the threat of atomic energy loosed on their cities once again. (Even a wordly MSU sophomore, as yourself, should know about the atomic bomb).

Your own personal dislike for MacArthur stems, I believe, not from his political ambitions (which he has denied) but rather because of his attack on the Bonus Army in Washington when he was Chief of Staff.

If you must throw mud at one of America's victorious military leaders, because he is of different political or economic belief than yourself do it on that basis, not on his capable military judgment in World War II.

Yours truly,
DON WESTON

Grizzlies Begin Last Drills As Season Opener Nears

Injuries, Small Turnout, Draft, Handicap
Dahlberg's Montana Eleven in Past Week;
All Eyes on First Utah State Tilt Oct. 13

Featuring a frame shift and single wingback formation Montana's 1945 Grizzlies enter the final week of gruelling drill before next Saturday's opening battle against Utah State at Logan.

Injuries, lack of talent, and the draft have handicapped Coach Dahlberg no end in building this year's squad. At times this fall "Jiggs" has not even had enough men out to make two complete scrimmage squads.

Vern DiRe, center, and Wally Stephens, halfback, have been under the heating lamp the past week working on a bad knee. Several other boys, all of whom Coach Dahlberg badly needs, have been slowed by slight injuries. But despite present problems, the coach believes everyone will be ready to go for the first game, October 13.

Montana lost two good men in Wyman Andrus, quarterback, and Don Bloomquist, tackle-guard; when they were called to the armed forces. Both lads were outstanding in high school football in recent seasons.

George Lewis, who plays guard and center equally well, has been working out in DiRe's center spot and may start there. Bud Rist alternates at tackle and guard. Hefty Jim Kirkemo looks very good at tackle. Ken Krouse, Gar Thorsrud, and 230-pound Clark Dayton are battling for starting spots at the end posts. Kirkaldie, Craft and Williamson are linemen also showing up well in early practice.

Ken Drahos, new addition to the lineup, drew his suit Thursday; but because of four years of college football already played he will only be eligible against service teams.

Starters in the backfield will probably be Preuninger at fullback, Stephens and Gallagher at halfbacks, and Don George calling signals at quarterback. Thompson and Flemming are two men you'll also be hearing from in the leather lugging department.

This Preuninger-Stephens-Gallagher-George back combination appears to have the stuff in practice and looks good. If they can get the right support from the line, Montana will have an offensive power-house to be reckoned with.

Greenfield Gives Gals Workout Today in Phys-Ed

About 432 university women will take to the field, pool, and gym floor today in the women's department of physical education. This is one of the largest enrollments yet in women's physical education at the university.

Mrs. Ruth Greenfield, acting head of the women's department, said that swimming, field hockey, dance, badminton, volleyball, archery, and tumbling will be offered the fall quarter. Fencing is not on the schedule because Charles Hartler is away on a year's leave of absence.

Mrs. Dorothy O'Brien, who returned this year from a leave of absence, will instruct in modern dance, tap dancing and health exercise and development to music. The last will include exercise to music and basic dance steps to rhythm.

Mrs. M. E. Rouk, a newcomer to the department, will teach swimming and field hockey. Mrs. Rouk is a graduate of the Wisconsin State Normal College at LaCrosse with a major in physical education.

Mrs. Greenfield will take over classes in tumbling, dance, badminton, volleyball, archery and hockey.

Washington State Downs Idaho 43-12

After holding Washington State 6-to-6 at the half, Idaho succumbed to the Cougars' T formation 43-12. The Vandals showed a strong passing attack, completing seven of 23 passes for 105 yards. Next week Idaho meets Oregon, and on October 20 plays Montana at Moscow.

Butte-Missoula Battle Tonight

Butte Public's vicious Bulldogs battle Missoula's defending state champion Spartans for the lead of the Big Six Montana high school conference under the lights at Dornblaser Stadium tonight.

Both are undefeated; Missoula downing Gonzaga of Spokane 12-7, Kalispell 33-0, and Helena 34-6; Butte winning over Lewistown 13-0, Great Falls 2-0, and Billings 13-2.

Montana May Enter Races

Montana State University has been invited to enter a cross country team in the Fourth Annual Pacific Coast Championship Race at Spokane, Wash., Thursday, November 22, 1945. This annual Thanksgiving Day classic is under the auspices of the Athletic Round Table at Spokane.

"Montana will enter this event if students show an interest and turn out" stated Kirk Badgley, director of athletics.

Inter-Frat Touchball Returns This Fall

President Bob Tabaracci of the Interfraternity Council announced yesterday that 11-man interfraternity touchball will be played this fall. All active fraternities on the campus will be represented and there is a possibility that the independents might field a team.

A committee composed of Don Kern, Sigma Nu; Babe Young, Phi Delta; and Don Gray, SAE, was appointed to arrange a round robin schedule which will be announced next week. Play will be started soon as possible.

The possibility of trophies was discussed at the council meeting and, if available, a first place trophy will be awarded.

Actives and pledges are eligible to play, it was announced. Games will be played on the Clover Bowl, between Eddy and Connell avenues across from the University tennis courts.

Anyone losing a sum of money (slightly under $10) early this week, may recover same by calling at the Kaimin editor's office and claiming it.
